Education That Works For a Lifetime

What's the difference between your college website and myCommNet?

Individual community college websites are public sites for information about each college's admissions, programs, services, events and news. myCommNet is a private website that allows you to access and manage all your college information that requires sign-on and authorization. myCommNet is a portal, similar to My Yahoo or My Excite, that has a personalized website where you can access your information and use customized tools.

What's the scope of myCommNet?

Via the Internet on- or off-campus, myCommNet (<http://my.commnet.edu>) will be the source of information and services for students, faculty and staff of the Connecticut Community Colleges. myCommNet makes it easier to conduct college business, communicate with others in your classes, and participate in online class opportunities. It's where you can register for classes, check your academic progress, interact with classmates, and manage your college finances, all with a single sign-on. You only have to remember one user ID and one password to reach all of your college's online services.

myCommNet will launch on November 21, 2007.

Benefits of myCommNet:

For Students (both credit and non-credit)

You only need to remember one user ID and one password to reach all your college's online services. With a single sign-on, you'll find:

- MyCourses: Check on class materials, receive class-related messages, review syllabi, interact with your classmates, and participate in online discussion forums through WebCTVista.
- Student Self-Service: Apply for admission, check on the status of your financial aid; register, add and drop classes from your current schedule; check your academic progress; view your account and make payments; and access grades and transcripts.
- College Libraries and Online Databases: Conduct a quick search of your college's library catalog, and tap into the online research materials and other resources that your college library has available.
- CCC websites: Access the individual college websites through myCommNet.
- Customization: Your myCommNet home page is also the source for announcements and other information you need. Each page is customizable; many of the "channels," or boxes of information, found on the myCommNet pages can be moved, deleted or resized to meet your own needs.
- Online Tutorials: Inside myCommNet, these tutorials demonstrate the full range of features.
