Course Description:

As a cornerstone for all other business courses, this course places business in perspective. It surveys business topics in a contemporary manner and offers students a good foundation in how business operates in our capitalistic society today. The course provides a conceptual understanding of general business management, human resources, marketing, finance and controls.

Course Objectives:

1. To examine how business institutions operate in our modern, political, social, and economic environment.
2. To provide a general background in the elements and characteristics of business enterprise.
3. To provide an atmosphere in which you can relate personal business experience and philosophies.
4. To clarify the many aspects of business functions such as ethics, management, organizations, personnel, marketing, and finance.
5. To broaden your understanding of the American free enterprise system.
6. To expand and enrich your business vocabulary.
7. To create an awareness of the varied career opportunities in business and aid in selecting a vocation or enhance the vocation already selected.
8. To review the methods and procedures used by people in business to arrive at effective decisions.
9. To assist in your personal development by practicing critical thinking and communications skills.

Grading:

There will be four exams during the course. No make-up exams will be given. You are required to take all 4 exams. The exams will cover information from the textbook and any supplemental subjects introduced. For grading purposes I will count 3 of the 4 exams – dropping the lowest exam score. The fourth exam cannot be dropped as the lowest exam score. Therefore, you are REQUIRED to take the fourth exam. If you miss one of the first three exams, that exam will obviously be dropped as your lowest score – zero.

There will also be a class presentation and written report required in this course. Each student will provide a 10-15 minute presentation to the class. A two page (double spaced) report will be submitted to me at the end of the presentation. More information regarding topics, requirements, and dates will be provided in class. Prior approval of the topic is required.

Homework assignments are generally due the following class session, unless instructed otherwise. Grades on assignments not submitted by due date will be given a lowered grade.

You are responsible for staying informed on all assignments, expectations, and class procedures. I suggest that you make several friends in this class to exchange contact information so you can find out what you missed.

Students receiving an 'A' for participation will meet the following requirements:

- Attend regularly (no more than one absence), arrive punctually, and remain for the duration of the class
- Demonstrate evidence of consistent prior reading and thought
- Participate actively in classroom dialogue
- Present summaries to the class of small group discussion and activities

Attendance is essential to success in this course. A critical understanding of business related issues is achieved via in-class discussions and projects. You are expected to attend all classes in order to receive full benefit from instruction, in-class work, lectures, discussion, handouts, and guest speakers.

Exams cover more than assigned text readings. Exams cover everything presented in class.

If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to find out what was covered during your absence and what was assigned for homework.

Additionally, part of your grade is based upon participation/in-class assignments. Promptness is noted.

Classroom Policy:

I respect you and expect respect from you. Being a mature college student entails responsibility. This means you are responsible for yourself, your education, your assignments, your behavior, your attitude, your timeliness, and your contributions to the classroom atmosphere. I expect all students to be prompt, attentive, prepared, supportive of their classmates, and contribute to a positive classroom atmosphere.
