Description of the Course:

Prerequisite: ENG K101 eligibility.*

Public Speaking introduces students to the principles and basic skills of effective speech communication. Students will research, compose, and deliver speeches of increasing complexity and sophistication. The course familiarizes students with the strategies and techniques of successful informative and persuasive public speaking so students gain an understanding of how communication happens and how people participate in public discourses. The course also exposes students to the rhetorical dimensions of many types of public speech and teaches them to be more critical listeners who can respond rhetorically to complex issues and ideas.

COM K173 Course Outcome:

1. Demonstrate, describe, and apply an understanding of the relevant principles of speech communication, reasoning, and argumentation.
2. Critically evaluate examples of public discourse.
3. Demonstrate the acquisition of skills in public speaking and argumentation within several speech structures and contexts.
4. Demonstrate an ethical and effective use of academic research.
5. Demonstrate an appreciation of the relationship of speech communication to society.

Required Materials:

- Practically Speaking, by J. Dan Rothwell.
- A SD card with at least 4GB free to keep the videos of your speeches. You will need a Class 4 or higher SDHC or SDXC memory card, which you should be able to find on Amazon for under $20. I prefer the brand SanDisk, but there are other brands with good cards.

Email and Office Hours:

If you have any questions or want to discuss a particular reading or assignment, feel free to contact me. My office hours are by appointment only, but I am happy to meet with students or speak with you on the phone to help you be successful in your work. Please email me with any questions or concerns that might arise through the course of the semester. I will respond to emails within 24-36 hours. If you send an email between late Friday and Sunday, I will do my best to respond during the aforementioned time frame, but will be sure to respond at the beginning of the following Monday.

Attendance Policy:

This is a class that requires your regular and engaged attendance. Because of the nature of public speaking and public communication, it is important for you to be in class and prepared and committed to listening, thinking critically, and speaking. You should come prepared every day, meaning having read the assigned reading and prepared for any assignments due. In addition, there will be impromptu assignments, peer evaluations and group work that you will be asked to participate in. I will be taking attendance daily and lack of attendance WILL affect your final participation grade.

Tardiness:

Due to the nature of this course, tardiness is very disruptive. There will be many days when students are giving formal and informal presentations, and entering the room while they are speaking can be quite unnerving for speakers. Excessive tardiness WILL negatively impact your grade.

Preparation:

You are responsible for all reading assignments, all material discussed in class, all handouts distributed in class, and all announcements made in class, including schedule changes. We will be writing in class, discussing topical issues, and giving presentations. Students are expected to demonstrate professionalism in all of these activities. This includes being prepared to answer questions related to the reading, as well as being prepared to ask questions of clarification or about issues of interest, during class.

Question of the Day / Impromptu Speaking Exercises:

“Question of the Day” and impromptu speaking exercises are designed to provide you with regular classroom practice in the principles of effective public speaking. Most days, class will begin with one of these exercises, so it is crucial that you arrive on time. During the exercises, students will respond to a question posed to the class. Student generated suggestions will be solicited.

Late Assignments and Make-up Policy:

Late assignments will not be accepted except in the most dire of circumstances. You are expected to attend class on the day you have assignments due. The only exceptions to this will be cases of extreme illness, death of a family member, or college or legal obligations. You will be expected to contact me within twenty-four hours of the class meeting to notify me of your absence. While you are not guaranteed the opportunity to make-up the missed assignment, if you are, you may do so with a grade penalty. If you are not able to make class when an assignment is due, I will request a digital copy be emailed to me before our assigned class meeting time. When you return, you should bring a hard copy of the assignment. I do not permit make-ups for in-class assignments.

Speech Policy:

You are expected to come fully prepared for each speech day. All speeches that are assigned are scheduled to be presented on a given day. Because giving speeches takes class time, it is often difficult or impossible to find time for presenting late speeches. Please refer to the late assignment policy for questions about missed speeches. If you have specific questions or concerns regarding the policy, please speak with me privately about your situation.

Academic Integrity and Ethics:

Plagiarism will not be tolerated. Any assignment found to be plagiarized or to come from plagiarized material will receive a grade of zero and the student will be reported to the Academic Dean and Student Services Dean where disciplinary action may be taken.

Student Email:

Your default email address is your college email address and this email address must be used for class-related communications. If you have not set up your email address yet, you will need to do this immediately. A secondary way I will be communicating with you is within our Blackboard course shell. If you have any questions regarding use of college email or Blackboard, you can contact the IT Service Desk at (860) 215-9049.

Digication:

As a student you will maintain an online learning portfolio using a TRCC designed template. Through this electronic tool you can see your own growth in college wide learning. It may even help you to find the major that is a match to you. You can keep this Digication account after graduation too. A Three Rivers General Education Assessment Team will select random works and review them so that we can improve the college experience for all. Your name will not be attached to any of the assessment work. It is private. This tool will also be a “place” where you can connect your learning from the classroom, school and life. Sometimes when you look at all of the work you have done and think about it you learn something else. In Digication you will be able to make other portfolios too. It’s like a file cabinet with the ability to have multiple but separate files. What is exciting about the electronic tool is when you look inside you will see you are developing in new ways! Look at your class outline to see what assignments to post into the TRCC template, you may post your own choices too. Have fun in learning!

Class Cancellation Policy:

In the event that I am not able to attend class, you should find a note posted outside our classroom door. If there is no note but I am not in the classroom, please wait ten minutes before concluding that class has been cancelled. In the event of cancellation, I will make every effort to notify you by email ahead of time. For instructions on class cancellation due to inclement weather, please consult your student handbook, which can be accessed online through the TRCC website.
