Spring 2015

Course Description:

This course will be a survey of the diplomatic, economic, political, social, cultural and intellectual history of Europe from 1914 to the present, highlighting its relationship with the rest of the world. For this particular semester, we will be using feature films in class as a means to further understand this history.

Learning Goals:

At the end of the course, students will understand, synthesize and evaluate the history of Europe from 1914 to the present. Students will also be able to organize, interpret, and evaluate evidence and ideas within and across disciplines; draw reasoned inferences and defensible conclusions; and solve problems and make decisions based on analytical processes.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of this course the student will be able to:

- A. Analyze European social, political, economic and cultural developments in the early 20th Century
- B. Identify and synthesize the historical causes and legacies of World War I.
- C. Describe and compare the rise of fascism in Italy and Germany.
- D. Analyze and explain Nazi genocides directed against the European Jews and other populations.
- E. Evaluate and explain the historical factors and legacies of World War II.
- F. Identify and discuss the emergence of the Cold War and the evolving political and economic developments associated with it.
- G. Analyze the trajectory of European economic and political unification efforts in the post-World War Two period.
- H. Describe patterns of decolonization among former colonies of the European powers.
- I. Describe the youth movements of the 1960's in terms of historical causes and core demands.
- J. Describe the postwar women's movement in Europe in terms of historical causes and core demands.
- K. Analyze the pattern of relations among the western and eastern European states during the latter decades of the Cold War.
- L. Define and explain the motivations and impact for the revolutions of 1989.
- M. Analyze the core reasons and major legacies of the collapse of the Soviet Union.
- N. Describe the key reasons for the disintegration of Yugoslavia, and the ensuing civil wars in the Balkans.

O. Describe the contemporary debates in Europe over immigration and multiculturalism.

Method of Evaluation:

Film research essay/journal – You will write a weekly film journal, documenting both your reactions to each film that we watch, as well as incorporating some historical research. Journal entries should be no less than 3-4 pages, but certainly may be significantly longer. Though summary and opinion are often good places to start, entries should reach beyond this level to reflect critical thinking about the film. What strikes you as strange – or particularly well done? How does this film accord with what you have learned about the historical area it treats? How does it compare with a similar film or other works about the same historical period that you may have?

The weekly assignments will make up the total of your grade for the semester.

Digication Statement

As a student you will maintain an online learning portfolio using a college-designed template in Digication. Through this electronic tool you will have the opportunity to monitor your own growth in college-wide learning. It may even help you determine a major that is best suited to you. You will be able to keep and maintain your learning portfolio after graduation. A Three Rivers General Education Assessment Team will select and review random works to improve the college experience for all. If your work is selected and reviewed for assessment purposes, it will remain anonymous and private. Digication provides a “place” where you will connect your learning from the classroom, college, and life in general. Sometimes when you review all of the work you have done and think about it, you end up learning something different and perhaps unexpected. Please review your course outlines to determine what assignments to upload into the TRCC Digication template and please post your own choices, as well. Have fun in learning!

Grading System:

A = 94-100	C = 74-77
A- = 90-93	C- = 70-73
B+ = 88-89	D+ = 68-70

B = 80-83	D = 64-67
B- = 80-83	D- = 60-62
C+ = 78-79	F = Below 60

Paper Information

All written materials that are handed in must be typed, double-spaced and follow the writing rubric that is at the end of this syllabus. If you have any trouble with writing, I strongly advise you visit the writing center and TASC in the library at both campuses. They are resources that you should use.

Furthermore, the following web site will help answer many, if not all of your questions on writing:

Attendance:

Please look at the student handbook regarding the college's attendance policies. Because of the nature of this particular course, I will not tolerate lateness due to the showing of films.

Late Assignments

(Please note that none of following applies if we have made arrangements beforehand)

All homework and journal assignments are due at the beginning of each class. My policy on late assignments for this course is as follows: I will accept the first late writing assignment within a week that it is due, and be penalized one letter grade. The second and subsequent late assignments will be penalized a minimum of two letter grades.

Disabilities Statement:

If you have a hidden or visible disability, which may require classroom or assignment modifications, you are obligated to come see me as soon as possible.

Academic Dishonesty:

Any form of cheating or plagiarism will be reported to the college immediately, and may result in the failure of an assignment or the course itself.

Essay and Research Paper Grading Rubric

	Excellent	Good	Needs Improvement	Poor	F
Overall Impression	Author directly addresses main question or issue, and adds new insight to the subject not provided in lectures, readings, or class discussions. The author has retained nearly all of the knowledge presented in class. He/She is able to synthesize this knowledge in new ways and relate to material not covered in the course.	Author competently addresses main question or issue, but does not add much new insight into the subject. That said, it is clear that the author has learned a great deal in class and is able to communicate this knowledge to others.	Author attempts to address main question or issue, but fails. The author has retained some information from the course, but does not fully understand its meaning or context and cannot clearly convey it to others.	Essay does NOT address main question or issue, and it is obvious that author has not retained any information from the course.	P L A G I A R I S M
Argument	Essay contains a clear argument—i.e., lets the reader know exactly what the author is trying to communicate.	An argument is present, but reader must reconstruct it from the text.	Author attempts, but fails, to make an argument (e.g., starts with a rhetorical question/statement or anecdote that is never put into context).	No attempt is made to articulate an argument.
Evidence	Provides compelling and accurate evidence that convinces reader to accept main argument. The importance/relevance of all pieces of evidence is clearly stated. There are no gaps in reasoning—i.e., the reader does not need to assume anything or do additional research to accept main argument.	Provides necessary evidence to convince reader of most aspects of the main argument but not all. The importance/relevance of some evidence presented may not be totally clear. Reader must make a few mental leaps or do some additional research to fully accept all aspects of main argument.	Not enough evidence is provided to support author's argument, or evidence is incomplete, incorrect, or oversimplified. Information from lectures and readings is not effectively used.	Either no evidence is provided, or there are numerous factual mistakes, omissions or oversimplifications. There is little or no mention of information from lectures and readings.

	Excellent	Good	Needs Improvement	Poor	F
Counter-Evidence	The author considers the evidence, or alternate interpretations of evidence, that could be used to refute or weaken his/her argument, and thoughtfully responds to it.	Author acknowledges that counter-evidence or alternative interpretations exists, and lists them fully, but does not effectively explain to reader why his/her argument still stands.	Author acknowledges some of the most obvious counter-evidence and alternative explanations, but is not comprehensive in this task. There is little or no attempt made to respond to them.	No acknowledgement of counter-evidence or alternative interpretations.
Sources Note: You should always consult the assignment description to find out what kinds of sources are required.	Evidence is used from a wide range of sources, including lectures and course readings. When required, author also consults scholarly books, websites, journal articles, etc. not explicitly discussed in class.	Evidence is used from many sources, but author relies heavily on a more limited set of sources. Some effort is made to go beyond material presented in class when required, but not much. If outside sources are used, they are primarily non-scholarly (i.e., intended for a general audience) and/or web-based.	Uses only a few of the sources provided in class, or does not go beyond what has been provided by professor when required to do additional research.	Does not use sources, only minimally uses sources provided by instructor, or relies exclusively on non-scholarly outside sources.
Citations	All evidence is properly cited in footnotes or endnotes.	All evidence is cited in footnotes or endnotes, but there are some minor problems with completeness or format of some citations.	Some pieces are unreferenced or inaccurately referenced, and there are problems with completeness and format of citations.	No attempt is made to cite evidence.

	Excellent	Good	Needs Improvement	Poor	F
Organization	Essay contains an intro, main body, and conclusion. Introduction lays out main argument and gives an outline of what the reader can expect in the essay. The conclusion brings everything together, acknowledges potential shortcomings of the paper, and gives the reader a sense of what further work might be done to advance the subject matter described in the paper.	Essay contains an intro, main body, and conclusion. The introduction lays out the main argument but gives the reader little idea of what to expect in the essay. The conclusion nicely summarizes the main argument and evidence, but does not move beyond what has already been presented in the paper.	Essay contains an intro, main body, and conclusion. The introduction gives the reader an idea of what to expect in the paper, but does not effectively lay out the main argument. Clarity and Style	All sentences are grammatically correct and clearly written. No words are misused or unnecessarily fancy.
