Meets: MW from 3-4:15 pm in KTRCC D203

Description of the course:

Prerequisite: ENG K101 eligibility

COM K173 Course Description):

Public Speaking introduces students to the principles and basic skills of effective speech communication. Students will research, compose, and deliver speeches of increasing complexity and sophistication. The course familiarizes students with the strategies and techniques of successful informative and persuasive public speaking so students gain an understanding of how communication happens and how people participate in public discourses. The course also exposes students to the rhetorical dimensions of many types of public speech and teaches them to be more critical listeners who can respond rhetorically to complex issues and ideas.

COM K173 Course Outcomes:

1. Demonstrate, describe, and apply an understanding of the relevant principles of speech communication, reasoning, and argumentation.
2. Critically evaluate examples of public discourse.
3. Demonstrate the acquisition of skills in public speaking and argumentation within several speech structures and contexts.
4. Demonstrate an ethical and effective use of academic research.
5. Demonstrate an appreciation of the relationship of speech communication to society.

Attendance Policy:

This is a class that requires your regular and engaged attendance. Because of the nature of public speaking and public communication, it is important for you to be in class and committed to listening, thinking critically, and speaking. You should come prepared every day, meaning having read the assigned reading and prepared for any assignments due. I will be taking attendance daily. If you must miss a class due to an emergency, let me know via email. As 10% of your grade is based on participation and another 10% is based on classwork and homework, excessive absenteeism will negatively impact your grade.

Tardiness:

Due to the nature of this course, tardiness is very disruptive. There will be many days when students are giving formal and informal presentations, and entering the room while they are speaking can be quite unnerving for speakers. Excessive tardiness will negatively impact your grade.

Preparation:

You are responsible for all reading assignments, all material discussed in class, all handouts distributed in class, and all announcements made in class, including schedule changes. We will be writing in class, discussing, and giving presentations during the course of the semester. Students are expected to demonstrate professionalism in all of these activities. This includes being prepared to answer questions related to the reading, as well as being prepared to ask questions of clarification or about issues of interest, during class.

Question of the Day Exercise:

The "Question of the Day" is designed to provide you with regular classroom practice in the principles of effective public speaking. Class will begin most days with one of these exercises, so it is crucial that you arrive on time. During the exercises, students will respond to a current affairs question posed to the class. Student generated suggestions may be solicited.

Late Assignments and Make-up Policy:

Late assignments will not be accepted except in the most dire of circumstances. You are expected to come to class prepared on the days you have assignments due. The only exceptions to this will be documented cases of extreme illness, death of a family member, or college or legal obligations. In these instances, you will be expected to contact me via email prior to the class meeting, and should return to class with documentation explaining your absence. If you are not able to attend class when an assignment is due you must send me a digital copy of the assignment via email before our assigned class meeting time. When you return, you must also bring a hard copy of the assignment. I do not permit make-ups for in- class assignments.

Speech Policy:

You are expected to come fully prepared for each speech day. Because giving speeches takes class time, it is difficult to impossible to find time for presenting late speeches. Late speech presentations are guaranteed to lose at least one complete letter grade if proper documentation for an absence is not presented. However, even with documentation, you are not guaranteed the opportunity to make-up the missed speech due to time constraints. Please refer to the late assignment policy for questions about missed speeches. If you have specific questions or concerns regarding the policy, please speak with me privately about your situation.

Academic Integrity and Ethics:

The decision to enter college and undertake advanced study is a choice that entails an important set of ethical commitments. One of these commitments is a mindfulness of plagiarism: knowing what it is and how to properly complete assignments competently and ethically. Plagiarism will not be tolerated. Any assignment found to be plagiarized or to come from plagiarized material will receive a grade of zero and the student will be reported to the Academic Dean and Student Services Dean where disciplinary action may be taken.

Students with Disabilities:

If you have a disability that may affect your progress in this course, please meet with a Disability Service Provider (DSP) as soon as possible. Please note that I cannot provide disability accommodations until a student provides the necessary paperwork from the college's Office of Disability Services to me. Also, accommodations take effect when I receive the paperwork from a student, and accommodations will not be provided retroactively.

If you have any questions regarding use of college email or Blackboard, you can contact the IT Service Desk at (860) 215-9049.

Digication Statement

All students are required to maintain an online learning portfolio using a TRCC designed template. Through this electronic tool, students can see their own growth in college-wide learning. The student can keep and continue to use the Digication account after graduation. A Three Rivers General Education Assessment Team will select random works to improve the college experience for all. No names will be attached to the assessment work; it will remain private and anonymous for college improvement purposes. In class outlines, students will find recommended assignments which support various college-wide learning abilities. The student will have a tool which can integrate their learning from the classroom, school, and life and allow for another opportunity of learning at TRCC! Students will be able to make multiple portfolios.
