Course Description:

Philosophy 111 is an introductory survey course designed to expose students to the fundamentals of ethics, including an introduction to the origins and nature of moral rights and responsibilities, sources of ethical paradigms, and historical and contemporary theories of ethical decision-making. Students will be asked to analyze ethical situations through the perspectives provided by common traditions in the field (i.e. utilitarian, deontological, virtue ethics, etc...). In addition, students will be required to demonstrate understanding of independent scholarship and the ability to apply specific theories to a range of genres and contexts. The goal of the course is not to necessarily decide what is right or wrong for everyone, but rather to provide an understanding of different ways to approach morality and ethics.

Learning Outcomes:

- Demonstrate understanding of foundational ethical theories (e.g. deontology, utilitarianism, virtue, etc...) in various contexts
- Apply ethical frameworks to real world situations as well as both hypothetical and personal cases
- Demonstrate understanding of the complexity of current social issues and their ethical components
- Develop an understanding of personal ethical foundations and behaviors
- Collaborate with others on presenting ethical controversies in a rational and logical manner
- Use various critical thinking strategies to analyze and synthesize information from a variety of sources (i.e. primary texts, secondary texts, multi-media presentations, experiential learning, etc...)

Required Texts:

The Moral of the Story: An Introduction to Ethics, most recent edition, by Nina Rosenstand Tales of Good and Evil, Help and Harm, most recent edition, by Philip Hallie.

Attendance, Grading, and Due Dates:

Attendance- I will be checking attendance for the first few meetings, but after that, it is up to you to attend regularly. Because most of the main themes about various traditions will be discussed in class, it is to your advantage to attend regularly. We will also be doing in-class writings on a regular basis that I will use to determine discussion points. A couple of missed classes will probably not result in any kind of huge deficit, but excessive absences (three or more) will most likely impact your work negatively. If you miss a session, please check the Blackboard site for the class if you want copies of lecture slides, handouts, etc.

Grading- The grading for this course is flexible, and the grading contract for the class will be decided during our first meeting. The categories below indicate all the aspects that will be evaluated. The weight that is assigned to each one is up to the class as a whole. There are only a few limitations: 1) the point totals for the ethical will and the exams are not changeable, 2) no category can be worth less than 100 points (besides ethical will), 3) fractional totals or those not rounded to the nearest ten points are not acceptable, 4) in-class writings and discussion can't be more than 200 points, and 5) the total number of points must equal 1000. Please remember that if one category is given fewer points, then another category must be weighted more heavily.

In-class writings and discussion-----	_____	points
Case study responses (4) -----	_____	points
Wiki project (ethical controversy) -----	_____	points
Ethical will -----	50	points
Mid-term and final exams (250 points for each) -----	500	points

Letter grades are then generated at the end of the term based on a strict percentage scale. Grades with an attached "+" or "-" will be given for those point totals which fall within the top or bottom 2% of each grade category (there is no "A+"). For example, a student with 830 points would receive a straight "B" grade. A different student, who had accumulated only 810 points, would receive a "B-" (810= the lowest 2% of the "B" category or $.02 \times 1000 = 810$).

A=	900-1000 points
B=	800-899 points
C=	700-799 points
D=	600-699 points
F=	below 600 points

Due Dates- Due dates are included in the syllabus and are not generally flexible. Late papers will not be accepted unless a student is experiencing/has experienced an extreme situation. In such cases, please contact me or speak to me privately as soon as possible.

Please remember: It is your responsibility to keep up with assigned readings and paper due dates as presented in the syllabus. Check with me or a classmate to keep up with syllabus changes. The class Blackboard site will be used to archive slides, handouts, and other materials for the course.

Writing Papers:

Write papers for this class as if you were submitting them for an English course. Grammatically sound language and an academic tone will be expected of all out-of-class assignments. Any exceptions to that will be made explicit when writing tasks are assigned.

MLA format- All out of class assignments must be typed and double-spaced with realistic margins according to MLA format. I will outline this format in class prior to your first written assignment. Any up-to-date English/writing reference will have a section on how to use this set of writing conventions. These are two of the best online resources to use:

The Purdue Online Writing Lab: <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/>
Bedford/ St. Martin's Writing: http://bcs.bedfordstmartins.com/rewriting2e/#t_526483

Paper submission- Please submit electronic copies of all out of class papers by attaching them as readable files and sending to my TRCC e-mail address. Acceptable file formats are .doc, .docx, .txt, .rtf, and .odt. Making documents accessible through cloud storage sites is not an alternative; I will not log in to Google Docs or other similar sites to read papers.

Returned Papers- All graded copies of papers will usually be returned one week after the due date. Sometimes that doesn't happen due to circumstances beyond my control, so please be patient. I try to include both content and style comments on returned papers for you to use as suggestions for future assignments.

Computers- It is strongly recommended that you use a computer or tablet in the writing process, as it will greatly reduce the time you spend on revision. Try to get into the habit of using MS Word or another document generation program when you initially compose your work and save it to a separate flash drive, cloud storage, or other medium frequently. It will make revisions more convenient, and it will also give you experience using the technology. All papers should be proofed thoroughly by a human. Computer spell-checks and grammar checks are notoriously fallible. You can also take advantage of the writing tutors in TASC/Writing Center by making a face-to-face appointment or submitting a paper via e-mail at TRWritingCenter@trcc.commnet.edu

Campus Policies:

Plagiarism- Plagiarism is the unacknowledged use of another person's words or ideas in your writing. Conscious plagiarism is an unacceptable academic behavior that will result in a "0" for the plagiarized assignment, with no re-write possibilities. Any repeat offense will result in a failing grade in the course. Plagiarism by omission or "unconscious" plagiarism will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis. To review definitions of plagiarism and strategies of how to avoid it, I recommend these resources:

Purdue OWL Plagiarism Tutorial: <https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/589/01/>
University of Southern Mississippi: <http://www.lib.usm.edu/legacy/plag/plagiarismtutorial.php>

Withdrawal policy- A student who finds it necessary to discontinue a course once class has met must provide written notice to the registrar. Withdrawal forms are available at the Registrar's office. No punitive "W" grades are assigned to any withdrawal requested before the unrestricted withdrawal deadline for the semester. Withdrawal requests received after this deadline must bear the signature of the instructor. No withdrawals are permitted after the last class preceding the final exam. Those who do not obtain an official withdrawal, but simply stop attending classes, run the risk of receiving an "F" grade for the course

Students with disabilities- If you have a disability that may affect your progress in this course, please meet with a Disability Service Provider (DSP) as soon as possible. You can make an appointment with a DSP by calling (860) 215-9016. Please note: 1.) For academic adjustments, you will have to provide documentation of your disability to the DSP. 2.) Instructors cannot provide adjustments until you have delivered written authorization (from a DSP) to the instructor. 3.) Adjustments take effect when you deliver your written authorization to the instructor in person (provided there is adequate time for the instructor to make necessary arrangements). 4.) Adjustments do not apply to tests/assignments that were due prior to your delivering written authorization to your instructor in person.

Cancelled classes- There is a possibility that class might be cancelled unexpectedly due to weather or another unforeseen circumstance. In such cases, check the college web site for official closing notifications. I will also post updates on Blackboard or through the e-mail. All electronic correspondence of that nature will be done through your official campus e-mail; I strongly recommend that you set that up to forward to another address if you don't check your campus e-mail frequently.

Digication- All students are required to maintain an online learning portfolio in Digication that uses the college template. Through this electronic tool students will have the opportunity to monitor their own growth in college-wide learning. The student will keep his/her learning portfolio and may continue to use the Digication account after graduation. A Three Rivers General Education Assessment Team will select and review random works to improve the college experience for all. Student work reviewed for assessment purposes will not include names and all student work will remain private and anonymous for college improvement purposes. Students will have the ability to integrate learning from the classroom, college, and life in general, which will provide additional learning opportunities. If desired, students will have the option to create multiple portfolios.

Revisions to Syllabus:

The information contained in the syllabus is subject to revision at my discretion. I will inform the class of any changes that are made. If you miss a class, contact me or talk to a classmate upon your return to verify that you have the most up-to-date information.
