Course Description

This course provides an introduction to the history of art from the mid-15th century through to contemporary art from a global perspective. Major works in many media including painting, sculpture, and architecture will be covered. By the end of the course, students will have a visual vocabulary with which they can intelligently discuss and write about works of art. Regardless of whether the work is accessible and easy to admire or difficult and not readily understood, students will understand how to evaluate works of art not only for their beauty, but for other intrinsic values such as power of expression and boldness of communication.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, students should:

- Demonstrate an ability to speak and write about visual art using an informed visual vocabulary;
- Demonstrate familiarity with the basic elements of a work of art;
- Demonstrate familiarity with many art mediums;
- Demonstrate an ability to evaluate works of art objectively, both for their formal qualities and for other qualities such as expression of emotion or communication of ideas;
- Be able to articulate an appreciation and find merit in challenging works of art that may have been dismissed previous to taking this course;
- Demonstrate an ability to identify the characteristics of the major periods and movements covered in the course and place a work of art in its appropriate time period and historical context.

Reading and Writing Assignments and Tests

There will be five writing assignments for this course. One writing assignment will be a short paragraph response to an additional reading, which I will provide for you. Three of the writing assignments will be short 2-3 page papers, and the final writing assignment is (5-7 pages).

We will have three slide examination tests for this course. There will be no make-up dates for missed exams. If you are absent on an exam date, you will receive an automatic F on that exam.

Evaluation Procedures

All materials involved such as title page, bibliography, visual references, and the end product for each project will be collected on assignment due dates. On their due date, assignments should be complete (printed and stapled) at the beginning of each class. Assignments will be graded primarily on the amount of time and thought that is put into them as well as craft – which is neatness and exactitude in grammar, punctuation, etc. You should plan to spend a minimum of two hours in preparation for each class hour (6 hours per week) outside of class. Those that put forth effort in this class will inevitably show improvement in their work as the class progresses.

Class Discussion

You are expected to be in class with a positive attitude. A positive and amicable environment is a good learning environment. Participating with energy and enthusiasm in class exercises and discussion is to everyone's benefit. Everyone should contribute frequently in each class discussion. Those who participate more will receive a higher grade in this area.

Course Requirements

Attendance – Please plan to attend all classes and to miss only for extenuating circumstances. If you are absent for a lecture class, please make sure you get the notes from a peer, as I do not provide lecture notes. If you are absent on a review date, please make sure you get the review notes from a peer, as I do not provide review notes.

Tardiness/Leaving Early – Most class announcements are made either at the beginning or end of class. Students who arrive late to class or leave class early will not only miss hearing important information, but are also disruptive to the rest of the class, as the instructor may have to repeat information. Every two times a student leaves early or arrives late equals one absence.

Deadlines – Assignments not completed on time will be lowered one letter grade for each class they are late (an A becomes a B).

Completion of all assignments – No student may receive a passing grade for this class without completing the minimum amount of written assignments and final paper.

Explanation of Criteria for Evaluation/Grade Weights

Projects – The average of all project presentations, papers, and tests comprises 55% of the final grade

Class Participation/Attendance – This comprises 30% of the final grade

Effort/Improvement – This comprises 15% of the final grade
