Course Description:

This basic course in environmental studies introduces ecological principles and a global perspective on environmental problems such as deforestation, global climate change, droughts, floods, soil erosion, loss of biodiversity, and pollutants. It describes, in detail, the study of the biological and physical aspects of the environment and related issues, highlighting sound science, sustainability, and stewardship. Additionally, this course emphasizes a global and cross-cultural perspective on issues pertaining to environmental science, including discussions on human population expansion, environmental racism, socioeconomic stratification, global stewardship, social modernization, and establishing a framework for a sustainable future.

Course Outcomes:

The student will:

- Develop an understanding of their own personal impact on the environment
- Develop a global perspective of environmental issues
- Evaluate the relationship between human population growth and other environmental problems
- Demonstrate an understanding of the political, social, and economic factors in environmental management
- Describe the structure and function of ecosystem components
- Evaluate solutions to human population problems

Course Goals:

Students will have a greater understanding of how interconnected the environment is and how humans are connected to the environment. Students will learn to recognize that different environments do not exist in isolation, that actions by nature and humans can have positive and negative consequences. Students will explore their own actions and beliefs about the environment and environmental issues.

Organization:

This course is a lecture/in-class participation course. The assigned reading will form the basis for in-class discussions. In-class attendance/participation and assignments will be a significant portion of the overall grade.

Quizzes (25%): In order to be prepared for class discussions, students must read the material prior to coming to class. A quiz may given on the assigned chapter reading(s) for that week. The lowest quiz grade will be dropped. There will be no make-up quizzes without prior approval.

Current Issue in Environmental Science Presentation (10%):

Each student will present a brief (5-10 minute) presentation to the class on a current issue in environmental science from a published news/journal article. The instructor must approve the article and no two students can present on the same article. A minimum one-page summary of the article and a copy of the article must to be turned in. In the summary, you will state why this issue is important and what the potential impact is on the environment.

Assignments (25%):

During the semester, students will examine and record their local impact on the environment. This will be accomplished through four take home exercises: 1) Ecological Footprint, 2) Transportation Use and Expense, 3) Trash Tracking, and 4) Water Utilization.

1) The Ecological Footprint (5%) will be completed online at <http://www.myfootprint.org/>. In order to get credit for the assignment you must turn in a printout of your ecological footprint (with your name on it).

2) Transportation Use and Expense (5%): Using the provided spreadsheet, keep track of expenses associated with your transportation use for 30 days.

3) Trash Tracking Audit (15%): Using the provided spreadsheet, you will keep track of your waste generation for your household for a one-week period and summarize your results.

4) Water Utilization (5%): Using the provided spreadsheet, you will keep track of your water consumption on a daily basis for a two-week period. This will include the total time that the water is running when you bathe (this includes the time that the water is on and you are not in the shower/bath).

In-class activities/participation (10%): During the semester, in-class activities and discussions will take place. These activities are designed to foster your ability to think critically on matters relating to the world we live in and the potential impact on the environment.

Final Exam (25%): There will be a final exam in this course. The exams will test you on the material covered in class and the required reading. The final exam is cumulative.

Extra credit (2.5%): Attend a local planning and zoning meeting, environmental, or conservation committee meeting. Provide a brief one-page summary of the importance of public participation at the local governmental level. What did you think of this experience? Support your opinion with general examples observed at the meeting.

Class Etiquette:

The use of cell phones and personal handheld electronic devices during class detracts from the learning environment for both yourself and your classmates. Please place all cell phones on silent during the class. If you must answer a call, please leave the classroom quietly to do so. During exams and quizzes, please turn in your exam/quiz prior to leaving, as it will be considered complete.

KEYS TO SUCCESS

Readings:

To ensure success in the classroom and to take active participation in your learning, each assigned reading should be read prior to the week assigned. Reading the material ahead of time will allow you to gain a familiarity with the concepts prior to learning about the concept in class. This will increase your understanding and allow you to participate by asking questions on the material that you find complex or confusing.

Attendance:

Although attendance is not mandatory, attendance is necessary to succeed in this course.
