

THREE RIVERS COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Sociology K101

Spring 2011 (1/20 to 5/16)

Prof. Babar

Have a question for the Professor?

>>>>>CLICK HERE<<<<<

NOTE: Classes are held online. Lectures and discussion questions will be posted by Sunday of each week. You are required to read the lectures and post your responses at least twice a week (SIX POSTS in Total>>>>as outlined below.) Discussion Board is a very big part of this course, as engaging with other students is equally, if not more, important than the mere reading of the Text. You will note each Discussion Board is calculated weekly and factored in your OVERALL FINAL GRADE. See GUIDELINES to observe for Discussion Board below for details.

TEXT:

Schaefer, Richard T. (2011). Sociology: A Brief Introduction. (9th Ed.). New York, NY: McGraw-Hill Co.

DESCRIPTION:

This is an introductory course of the major principles and methods of sociology emphasizing methods, basic concepts, terminology, and perspectives used by sociologists in analysis of social relationships. Sociological analysis will focus on the concept of culture; the individual as a social product; social groups, and basic social institutions such as the American government, family, education, religion, and the economy.

Introductory Sociology provides perspectives and information useful in understanding all societies. The major theories (functionalism, conflict, and symbolic interactionism) and concepts provide the foundation upon which the remaining material rests. Learning how sociologists do research provides the tools for understanding the production of knowledge and for evaluating the validity of sociological assertions.

Familiarity with systematic theorizing and conceptual development, along with some comprehension of the nature of the scientific method as it is applied in sociology, enhances critical reasoning. To promote a more complete understanding of human social life, both in its inherent constraints and in the opportunities it provides, the nature and reality of culture and social structure are explored. The study of socialization provides perspectives on how one becomes a member of society. Exploring social interaction adds insight into the formation of the social self and the salience of group identities and norms. Ending this first section with a discussion of social control highlights the forces of stability and change in society. The course then progresses to considerations of social stratification and inequality. The nature of privilege and oppression are discussed and considered in the specific contexts of race, ethnicity, gender, and age. The focus then shifts to social institutions. The essential work of society is accomplished via its major institutions: family, education, health care, economy and work, religion, and politics. Applying theoretical perspectives to the form and function of these institutions enhances an understanding of how different social structures provide varying constraints and opportunities to their inhabitants. Finally, considering large-scale forces for change provides a platform to comprehend where human societies have been, are now, and might be headed.

By the Term's End, this course will have provided students with multiple perspectives on issues related to human behavior and understand human behavior within the context of social and cultural factors. The students will be introduced to conceptual framework as a way to understand how these factors of human behavior work in a social environment.

ONLINE ORIENTATION:

Welcome to the Course!

Read the Online Course Orientation Announcement below, then, read my comments below:

Please Keep in mind Three Rivers Community College Online classes are NOT self-study classes--there are live instructors teaching each class, weekly Assignments and classmates to learn from.

Take the time to familiarize yourself with the setup course and navigate the different resources. Be certain to read all lectures and take advantage of PowerPoint Presentations and Videos, as they are very relevant to the Week's Topic.

You should Begin in the following order:

1. Syllabus
2. Video Walkthrough
3. CLICK>>>each icon on the Home Page to see the different parts of the course.
4. Lectures
5. Assignments
6. Resources
7. Post Your Introduction on the Discussion Board

Comments:

Some students who are new have asked: "How Should I Proceed?" The answer: the routine is relative. You have the various aspects of the course: Lecture, Media, PowerPoints, Interactive Activities and, of course, Discussion Board. This is where it all culminates. You will spend a majority of your time here where you will "interact" with the Professor and other students. As you will see, I am on the course everyday and do read the posts and respond. Beside your weekly Discussion Board Assignments, you will have a graded response papers, a Midterm Exam and Final Exam. They will be announced, as well.

Noteworthy of mention, Discussion Board is 30% of your overall Course Grade. Continue on to read further for details.

Getting Started:

1. Start by clicking the Syllabus icon on the left OR the icon on the homepage.
2. Then, click on each folder where you will find Course Material for the Week 1. Each week you will go to the same Folders on the Homepage and see the new Week's Material posted. Next Week, for example, will be Week 2, where you will find all of the Week 2 Course Material in Folders in a Week 2 icon and so forth.

And, do watch the Video Walkthrough,

See you at the Discussion Board Early and Often!

COURSE OBJECTIVE:

- To introduce students to the sociological perspective which would enable them to develop an awareness of how social forces external to individuals can shape human behavior;
- To communicate a deeper, broader understanding of the social world and the place of individuals in it;
- To acquaint you with the basic concepts and terminologies used in sociology;
- To introduce you to important elements of sociological research and how sociologists arrive at conclusions;
- To offer you a more thorough and informed perceptive of the social world and to help you interpret local, national and global events in more comprehensive manners;
- To help you see, understand and appreciate your own personal lives and the lives of others in new, enriched and refreshing ways.

LEARNING/INSTRUCTIONAL OUTCOMES:

After you successfully complete this course, you should be able to:

- Explain the main concerns and the significance of the field of sociology;
- Distinguish between sociology and other social sciences;
- Identify classical theorists and founders of sociology
- Identify major theoretical orientations within the field of sociology
- Identify at least three prominent contemporary sociologists
- Know and identify major steps in scientific social research and analysis

- Explain major concepts and terminology used in sociological analysis and research
- Explain at least some aspects of your own life sociologically.

GRADE	QUALITY POINT VALUE	AP NU EQ
A	4.0	95
A-	3.7	90
B+	3.3	87
B	3.0	83
B-	2.7	80
C+	2.3	77
C	2.0	73
C-	1.7	70
D+	1.3	67
D	1.0	63
D-	0.7	60
F	0.0	Bel

ASSESSMENT:

Group discussions

Quizzes and tests

Written essays

Research paper(s) and/or research project(s)

COMMON STRATEGIES: Lots of reading, talking, and writing.

EVALUATION: NOTE: GIVEN THE PROGRESS OF THE COURSE, THIS MAY CHANGE.

Essay 1: 15%

Test 1: 15%

Midterm Exam 20%

Final Exam: 20%

Discussion Board: 30%

Total: 100%

PLAGIARISM: Plagiarism is the intentional copying of another's words and/or ideas without giving appropriate credit to the original source. Plagiarism is absolutely unacceptable. Any student caught turning in a plagiarized paper will receive an F for the course. I am absolutely serious about this; I will not tolerate plagiarism.

SPECIAL NEEDS: Students with physical disabilities who may require accommodations are encouraged to contact the College Health Office. Students with learning disabilities are encouraged to contact the Office for Students with Learning Disabilities. After disclosing, students are urged to discuss the needs with individual instructors. This should be done at the beginning of each semester. Instructors, in conjunction with the appropriate college officials, will provide assistance and/or accommodations only to those students who have completed this process.

ATTENDANCE: It is crucial that you attend class. Much of what we will be doing in this class simply cannot be made up. You must be here (online). College policy allows any instructor to issue, for academic reasons, an N grade (no credit) if a student had more absences per semester than the number of time the class meets per week. I reserve the right to issue an N to students who miss more than four classes. I will do this for students who stop attending at the beginning of the semester, from whom I have seen no work (i.e., papers and/or exams), but do not officially withdraw. Students who cease to attend class, but do not formally withdraw, will get an F, this includes not posting to the Discussion Board for online courses. For absences due to extenuating circumstances, it is your responsibility to contact me. Car troubles, colds and such, and work schedules are not extenuating circumstances.

MAKE-UP POLICY: I will mark late papers down one letter grade for each class period late (i.e. weekly—an A becomes a B, and so on) unless you and I come to a different agreement prior to the due date (i.e., extension). Response papers (Weekly Assignments) may not be made up.

INCOMPLETE: I will grant an incomplete only when a student has already completed the majority of the class work and is unable to finish the course during the regular semester because of some unusual and extraordinary event or other personal circumstance. I will also grant an incomplete if a student misses the final exam, but is passing the course otherwise.

Codes of Conduct

These are the required codes of conduct in this course; they should be observed in your communication with your professor and your classmates:

1- Do not address the professor or other students disrespectfully.

- The Professor takes utmost care in getting the students' names correct and the same courtesy should be extended in return. So, learn my name, please get it right.
- You will address me as Prof. Babar; If you prefer to be addressed as Mr. or Mrs., then, do sign your name as such. Otherwise, I address students on a first name basis.

2- Always address the professor about any concerns about the course via the course email, call (See Office Hours in Announcements) OR Text Message during times Outside telephonic office hours. The professor is ready to answer your questions.

3- The discussion board should be used strictly to discuss the weekly topic posted by the professor. Posts pertaining to issues outside the topic will be deleted!

4- Do not use the course e-mail to mass e-mail other students! The instructor is the moderator of the course!

5- When you respond to your classmates' contributions, focus on the positive aspects of the contribution and do not use terms such as "ridiculous," "nonsensical," or any other inappropriate terms.

6- Your responses to your classmates' contributions should not be limited to "I agree with you" or you're right." Always support your answers.

7- Participate in discussions weekly and post at least twice a week. Participation in discussions would indicate that you are attending the class.

8- Plagiarism is not allowed. Read the policy on the course syllabus.

9- You will have to complete the course work-- participate in weekly discussions and submit all of your essays on the time set by the professor.

10- To pass the course, you will have to complete the course work successfully.

- Do Check EMAIL and Announcements regularly. It is NOT satisfactory to come back with an excuse that "you didn't know" because if you are checking Announcements than you WILL know.
- Check Your Email Address on File and if it is Invalid than, you should update it. Announcements are Emailed as well as posted on the Course.

11- Submitting all the essays at one time at the end of the semester is unacceptable and would lead to failure.

12- Read the assigned material to be able to answer study questions on the discussion board.

13- Respond to the professor's alerts about the progress you are required to make to improve your performance.

14- The professor reserves the right to add relevant changes such as announcements, web links, and relevant dates.

15- You will be notified via the course e-mail about weekly new postings.

16- Read the objectives of the course and make sure you communicate with the professor respectfully about any aspect of your learning in this course. Do not wait until the end of the semester to be more active in the course! Time flies!

17- Observe and apply good mechanics of writing when you e-mail the professor, post your answers on the discussion board, and write your essays.

Course Outline:

What follows is a schedule for the term. I have included dates of when I expect Assignments will be due. *See

Assignment Addendum Below

Tentative Course Outline:

What follows is a tentative schedule for the semester. I have included dates of when I expect papers will be due. This may change, given our progress in class.

I have included dates of when I expect papers will be due. See Assignment Addendum Below

Part I.

WEEK 1>>>Thurs., Jan.

20>>>>INTRODUCTIONS

WEEK 2>>>Monday, Jan. 24>>> Chapter 1

Understanding Sociology + Chapter 2 Sociological Research

WEEK 3>>>Sunday, Jan. 30>>> Chapter 2

Sociological Research, Chapter 3 Culture

WEEK 4>>>Sunday, Feb. 6>>> Chapter 4

Socialization and the Life Course (Test 1 DUE Sunday, Feb. 6th)

WEEK 5>>>Sunday, Feb. 13>>>Chapter 6 The Mass

Media

Part II.

WEEK 6>>>Sunday, Feb. 20>>> Chapter 5 Social

Interaction, Groups and Social Structure

WEEK 7>>> Sunday, Feb. 27>>>Chapter 7 Deviance

and Social Control

MIDTERM

WEEK 8>>> Sunday, Mar. 6>>> Chapter 8

Stratification and Social Mobility in the United States

(Midterm Exam DUE Sunday, Mar. 6th)

WEEK 9>>> Sunday, Mar. 13>>> SPRING

BREAK>>>>>>MAR. 13th -19th <<<<<<<<<

NOTE: SPRING BREAK—Discussion

Board will remain OPEN

WEEK 10>>>Sunday, Mar. 20>>> Chapter 9 Global Inequality & Chapter 10 Racial and Ethnic Inequality

Part III.

WEEK 11>>> Sunday, Mar. 27>>> Chapter 11
Stratification by Gender+ Chapter 12 The Family and Intimate Relationships

WEEK 12>>> Sunday, Apr. 3>>>>Chapter 13
Education and Religion

WEEK 13>>>Sunday, Apr. 10>>>Chapter 14
Government and the Economy (Essay 1 DUE Sunday, Apr. 10th)

WEEK 14>>> Sunday, Apr. 17>>> Chapter 15
Health, Medicine and the Environment

SPRING RECESS>>>>>>APR. 22nd -24th

<<<<<<<< NOTE: SPRING BREAK—Discussion

Board will remain OPEN

WEEK 15>>> Sunday, Apr. 24>>>Chapter 15

Health, Medicine and the Environment

WEEK 16>>> Sunday, May 1>>> Chapter 16 Social Change in the Global Community>>>>

>>>>>FINALS WEEK>>>>>>> May 13th>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>FINAL EXAM

DUE<<<<<<

Sociology K101
Spring 2011 (1/20 to 5/16)
Assignment Addendum

Assignments and Deadlines

Assignments will be posted on Saturdays when NEW Lectures are Posted and due by the following Sunday evening by 11:59 pm EST.

Assignments are traditionally returned after one week with the first assignment taking up to two weeks, as all submissions are checked for plagiarism.

Handouts of each assignment will be posted in Assignment Folder. Check Assignment Folder for details.

Outline of Assignments

Test 1: 15%

Midterm Exam 20%

Essay 1: 15%

Final Exam: 20%

Discussion Board: 30%

Total: 100%

Test 1 DUE Sunday, Feb. 6th

MIDTERM EXAM: DUE Sunday, Mar. 6th:

MIDTERM EXAM DUE

Due Date: Essay 1 DUE Sunday, Apr. 10th: Essay 1
(900-950 words)

FINAL EXAM: Due Date: Sunday, May 13th

>>>FINAL DUE<<<<<<<<: FINAL EXAM DUE