College Withdrawal Policy

A verbal “drop or withdrawal” from course(s) will be accepted through December 10th, 2011 in accordance with the designated withdrawal policy and deadlines: .

Attendance Policy

Class Attendance Policy

Instructional staff assigned to all sections of credit bearing courses at Three Rivers is required to take attendance at each class meeting and retain accurate records of attendance for at least three calendar years. The manner in which attendance is taken is determined at the professional discretion of the instructor. In certain instances, these records are furnished to the Financial Aid Office and the International Student advisor.

"Regular on-time attendance in this course is expected. There is much that happens during class time that adds to your educational experience beyond what you can learn from just reading and writing in solitude. To come to college is to join a community of learners. An athlete who does not attend practice risks losing his/her position on the team. A musician who does not attend rehearsals is usually not allowed to participate in the performance. So, too, it is questionable whether students who develop the habit of missing classes are really part of the class and therefore deserving of credit. Here, then is the attendance policy of the course." (p.79)

Attendance Policy

I will send around an attendance sheet at the beginning of each class. You are responsible for making sure you sign the attendance sheet each day. You may miss two class sessions without penalty. Beginning with your third absence you may lose one percentage point from your final cumulative grade. Save your absence for a legitimate emergency. If you are absent I will assume you have a good reason for being gone. Therefore I do not need doctor's notes or other documentation letting me know why you are absent. If a major emergency arises, let me know by email. Excessive absences – six sessions or more- may result in failure for the course.

If you are absent from class you are still responsible for the work assigned that day as well as the information given out that day. Please attempt to contact fellow classmates to find out what you missed before contacting me."(p.78)

Academic Dishonesty PLAGIARISM

Definitions of Academic Dishonesty

General Definition

(Student Discipline Policy, section 2:10, Board of Trustees of Connecticut Community Colleges)

Academic Dishonesty shall in general mean conduct which has as its intent or effect the false representation of a student's academic performance, including but not limited to (a) cheating on an examination, (b) collaborating with others in work to be presented, contrary to the stated rules of the course, (c) plagiarizing, including the submission of others' ideas or papers (whether purchased, borrowed, or otherwise obtained) as one's own, (d) stealing or having unauthorized access to examination or course materials, (e) falsifying records of laboratory or other data, (f) submitting, if contrary to the rules of a course, work previously presented in another course, and (g) knowingly and intentionally assisting another student in any of the above, including assistance in an arrangement whereby any work, classroom performance, examination or other activity is submitted or performed by a person other than the student under whose name the work is submitted or performed.

Academic Dishonesty in a Service Learning, Practicum, Internship, Co-operative, or Fieldwork environment

Conduct in community settings entered by a student as part of coursework must be equally characterized by integrity and honesty. Dishonest conduct proscribed under this policy includes but is not limited to (a) making false statements to community partners about the student's skills, credentials and accomplishments, (b) making false statements to community partners or the instructor about progress in the work the student has agreed to do in the community, including supplying false documentation of work, (c) failing to abide by the rules and policies of the community partners that the student agreed to accept as a condition of entrance into the community setting, (d) failing to return materials belonging to the community partner or instructor (e) violating the ethical principles common to professional researchers, including violation of confidentiality or anonymity agreements with research subjects, deceiving or harming research subjects, or coercing participation in research

Cellular Phones and Beepers: Students are notified that cellular phones and beepers are allowed in class or in the Learning Resource Center only if they are turned off or turned to a silent mode. Under no circumstances are phones to be answered in class. When there are extenuating circumstances that require that a student be available by phone or beeper, the student should speak to the instructor prior to class so that together they can arrive at an agreement.

Email communication: When corresponding via email to your professor you should put your course name and day/time in subject line. All communication should be transmitted in Proper English format avoiding the use of slang, or vulgarity. Communication should be kept brief and to the subject at hand.

Do not assume that your email has been received. If you do not receive some reply within 48 hours chances are it was not received.

Remember that email will NOT be answered from Thursday evening through Sunday night.
