Course Description:

Philosophy 111 is an introductory survey course designed to expose students to the fundamentals of ethics, including an introduction to the origins and nature of moral rights and responsibilities, sources of ethical paradigms, and historical and contemporary theories of ethical decision-making. Students will be asked to analyze ethical situations through the perspectives provided by common traditions in the field (i.e. utilitarian, Kantian, virtue ethics, religious ethics, etc...). In addition, students will be required to demonstrate understanding of independent scholarship and the ability to apply specific theories to a range of genres and contexts. The goal of the course is not to necessarily decide what is right or wrong for everyone, but rather to provide an understanding of different ways to approach morality and ethics.

Learning Outcomes:

- Demonstrate understanding of foundational ethical theories (e.g. deontology, utilitarianism, virtue, etc...) in various contexts
- Apply ethical frameworks to “real world” situations, both hypothetical and personal
- Demonstrate understanding of the complexity of current social issues and their ethical components
- Develop an understanding of personal ethical foundations and behaviors
- Collaborate with others on presenting ethical controversies in a rational and logical manner
- Use various critical thinking strategies to analyze and synthesize information from a variety of sources (i.e. primary texts, secondary texts, multi-media presentations, experiential learning, etc...)

Required Text/Stuff:

The Moral of the Story: An Introduction to Ethics, most recent edition, by Nina Rosenstand
Thinking Critically About Ethical Issues, most recent edition, by Vincent Ryan Ruggiero
Ability to access a computer/the Internet regularly during the course of the term

Attendance, Grading, and Due Dates:

Attendance- I will be checking attendance for the first couple of meetings, but after that, it is up to you to attend regularly. Because most of the main themes about various traditions will be discussed in class, it is to your advantage to attend regularly. We will also be doing in-class writings on a regular basis that I will use to determine attendance marks. One missed class will probably not result in any kind of huge deficit, but excessive absences (two or more) will most likely impact your work negatively. If you miss more than three classes without a compelling reason, you will not receive a passing grade in the class. If you miss a session, please see me on returning if you want copies of lecture slides, handouts, etc.

Grading- The grading for this course is flexible and will be decided during the first day of class. The categories below indicate all the aspects that you will be graded on. The weight that is assigned to each one is up to the class as a whole.

There are only a few limitations: 1) no category can be worth less than 100 points (besides ethical will), 3) fractional totals or those not rounded to the nearest ten points are not acceptable, 4) in-class writings and discussion can't be more than 200 points, and 5) the total number of points must equal 1000. Please remember that if one category is given fewer points, then another category must be weighted more heavily.

Research project ("life boat ethics") -----	_____	points
Ethical will -----	40	points
Mid-term and final exams -----	_____	points
Case study responses (7) -----	210	points
In-class writings and discussion-----	_____	points
Group wiki page project -----	_____	points

Letter grades are then generated at the end of the term based on a strict percentage scale. Grades with an attached "+" or "-" will be given for those point totals which fall within the top or bottom 2% of each grade category (there is no "A+"). For example, a student with 830 points would receive a straight "B" grade. A different student, who had accumulated only 810 points, would receive a "B-" (810= the lowest 2% of the "B" category or $.81 \times 1000 = 810$).

A=	900-1000 points
B=	800-899 points
C=	700-799 points
D=	600-699 points
F=	below 600 points

Due Dates- Due dates are included in the syllabus and are not generally flexible. Late papers will not be accepted unless a student is experiencing/has experienced a personal tragedy or some other extreme situation. In such cases, please speak to me privately before the fact, if possible. All students have one "grace period" to use at their discretion with any of their writings except the research project. The grace period allows you to turn in the paper any time before the next class meeting. If you wish to invoke your grace period, please cut on the dotted line and attach the appropriate quarter-sheet to your essay (see below).

Please remember: It is your responsibility to keep up with assigned readings and paper due dates as presented in the syllabus. Check with me or a classmate to keep up with syllabus changes.

Writing Papers:

MLA format- All out of class assignments must be typed and double-spaced with realistic margins according to MLA format. I will outline this format in class prior to your first written assignment. Any up-to-date English/writing reference will have a section on how to use this set of writing conventions. If you have questions about the style, please see me.

Returned Papers- Generally, all graded copies of papers will be returned one class after the due date. I am more concerned about content than grammatical troubles, but papers that are not carefully proofed will receive point deductions accordingly.

Computers- It is strongly recommended that you use a computer in the writing process (either your personal machine or one in a campus computer lab), as it will greatly reduce the time you spend on revision. Try to get into the habit of using a word processing program when you initially compose your work and save to a separate flash drive or diskette frequently. It will make revisions more convenient, and it will also give you experience using the technology. All papers should be proofed thoroughly by a human! Computer spell-checks and grammar checks are notoriously fallible! You can also take advantage of the writing tutors in TASC/Writing Center by making a face-to-face appointment or submitting a paper via e-mail at TRWritingCenter@trcc.commnet.edu

Campus Policies:

Plagiarism- Plagiarism is the unacknowledged use of another person's words or ideas in your writing. Conscious plagiarism is an unacceptable academic behavior that will result in a "0" for the plagiarized assignment, with no re-write possibilities. Any repeat offense will result in a failing grade in the course. Plagiarism by omission or "unconscious" plagiarism will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis.

Withdrawal policy- A student who finds it necessary to discontinue a course once class has met must provide written notice to the registrar. Withdrawal forms are available at the Registrar's office. No punitive "W" grades are assigned to any withdrawal requested before the unrestricted withdrawal deadline for the semester. Withdrawal requests received after this deadline must bear the signature of the instructor. No withdrawals are permitted after the last class preceding the final exam. Students who do not obtain an official withdrawal, but simply stop attending classes, run the risk of receiving an "F" grade for the course

Students with disabilities- If you have a hidden or visible disability that may require special accommodations, please see me as soon as possible. If you have not already done so, please be sure to register with Chris Scarborough in order to find out what services are available for you.

Cancelled classes- There is a possibility that class might be cancelled unexpectedly due to weather or another unforeseen circumstance. In such cases, check the college web site for official closing notifications. I will also post updates on Blackboard or through the e-mails that are on file with the registrar. If your e-mail address has changed, please update it as soon as possible.

Revisions to Syllabus:

The information contained in the syllabus is subject to revision at my discretion. I will inform the class of any changes that are made. If you miss a class, contact me or talk to a classmate upon your return to verify that you have the most up-to-date information.
